Nicola Bertellotti

Since a very young age his love for travel led him to approach photography, which became a means for him to retain the memory of his own experience.

What emerges in Bertellotti's aesthetic is the nostalgia of the lost paradise, expressed in the love for ruins, and the re-presentation in photographic key of the decadent poetics.

sculptures

Flowers, arabesques, shapeless pieces of metal, joined together to form poetry. As in a musical score, each of them takes on a fundamental role in the final construction of eternal figures; An apparently infinite puzzle whose starting point is not recognizable, but which makes it possible for us to admire the tangible elegance and ethereal transcendence of a complete form.
